EVENING COURSE IN MORNING: The Clergy Friends of MSUO have arranged with the Office of Continuing Education to offer the Winter Term evening course, Communism in the Modern World, on Monday mornings also. The course was arranged by Mr. Rhode and will be given as a series of eight lectures by Messrs. Burke, Straka, Shapiro and Appleton.

EKLUND SPEAKS: "Education and Moral Responsibility" will be Mr. Eklund's topic when he addresses the alumni of Cranbrook School Dec. 19 at a luncheon meeting at the Fox and Hounds Inn, Bloomfield Hills.

OFFICE HOURS: Mr. Hoopes announces office hours of 1 to 2 p.m. each Wednesday and 11 a.m. to noon each Thursday for students who wish to speak with him. These hours, however, are subject to changes necessitated by his other responsibilities.

HOOPES TALKS: Mr. Hoopes also announces he has two speaking engagements coming up. On Jan. 11 he will address the Wisconsin State Forum, Eau Claire. His talk, titled "What We Have Launched Since Sputnik," will explain the steps taken since Oct. 1957 to meet the education crises.  Jan. 20 he will speak at the annual dinner of the Parents Council of Kingswood School, Cranbrook. His topic then will be "Learning in Spite of College" and will deal with students' choices of colleges.

THREE SCHOLARSHIPS: The S O S Club awarded three scholarships at the fashion show held Nov. 29 in the Student Center. The awardees are: Joan Gibb, Eva Zumwalt and Chrisanthy Annas. The scholarships were $186 each and will cover tuition for Winter and Spring Terms this year.

REMINDER: The Faculty-Staff Christmas Party will be held from 8 to 11 p.m., tonight, Friday, Dec. 16, in the Student Center.
